Cash Automation Lets You Focus on the Customer Experience

Many customers prefer the personal touch of a human teller over ATMs. As your customers' first point of contact, your branch tellers are ideally positioned to nurture strong relationships. Tellers can recommend products and services that meet the customer's needs and answer questions about which ones are appropriate in any given situation. Unfortunately, branch tellers spend most of their time handling and counting cash, thereby missing out on precious opportunities to engage with the customer and promote new products and services.

Our Innovative Solutions Can Drive Your Business

Advances in cash automation technology are enabling tellers to rely on fast, accurate point-of-service solutions to manage and count cash, freeing them to explain your products in detail and offer advice on which products and services are right for them. That's the idea behind the AC-TCR Teller Cash Recycler solution from AccuCASH™, an industry leader in cash automation solutions.

The AC-TCR Teller Cash Recycler is a high-quality cash management solution that helps maximize the performance of your most important asset: your people. It also addresses regulatory issues, allowing you to focus on business performance.

The AC-TCR's speed and accuracy enables tellers to focus on customers from the beginning of the visit until the end, instead of being distracted by cash-handling tasks. Managing cash takes a great deal of attention, and the time it takes to handle and count it manually could be spent much more productively interacting with customers and enhancing relationships.

The AC-TCR from AccuCASH enhances productivity and lets your branch staff focus on your customers.

Make the Most of Every Customer Interaction

It's no secret that banking customers are making fewer in-person visits to your branches. Given the relentless cost pressures of in-branch banking, maximizing the value of every customer interaction is essential. Automating cash handling and counting allows you to repurpose the expensive space needed for cash management to customer activities. Cash automation also reduces the time needed to manage cash manually, which can then be spent more productively interacting with customers.

Incorporating the AC-TCR Teller Cash Recycler from AccuCASH into your branch operations lets your tellers focus their attention on customers. The result?

AC-TCR High Capacity Cassettes

provide flexible configurations for additional denominations

A better customer experience with fewer staff and less space required.

Building trust

Handling and counting cash manually is slow and error-prone, requiring tellers to spend excessive amounts of time focusing on cash instead of customers. With the AC-TCR, your branch staff can focus on creating positive customer interactions and building trust.

The AC-TCR Teller Cash Recycler from AccuCASH helps minimize costs by:

- Slashing cash transaction times at the teller window
- Shortening end-of-day procedures
- Reducing cash inventory and costs
- Automating counting, authentication, and fitness sorting
- Enhancing security and relieving dual-custody controls
- Reducing CIT and cash-center services
